

Daydreeming: Writing on Purpose

Turn doubt into purpose, and pain into story—one daydream at a time.

Why Daydreeming?

"For every kid who's ever asked, 'Why do we have to learn this?'—here's your answer."

Writing isn't just inspiration. It's practice, skill-building, and learning the basics.

In Daydreeming, students see how every drill and exercise builds real creativity and storytelling power.

Connecting classroom learning to achieving personal dreams through:

- ✓ Live prompts
- ✓ Honest Q&A
- ✓ Author's process

What to Expect

- ✓ Format: 90-minute live, interactive workshop (includes author Q&A).
- ✓ Audience: High school; up to 60 students per show; up to 2 shows per day.
- ✓ Experience: Hands-on writing games, collaboration, real-time feedback.
- ✓ Safety: Trauma-aware; emotionally immersive; suitable for all students.
- ✓ Outcome: Every student leaves with a new writing, confidence, and tools.

Program Standards and Outcomes

Meets Common Core & National Arts Standards for:

- ✓ Narrative Writing
- ✓ Dialogue & Characterization
- ✓ Sensory Detail & Imagery
- ✓ Revision & Collaboration
- ✓ Voice & Perspective

Students will:

Craft original scenes/worlds with authentic voice
Rework own stories and "rewrite" endings
Practice revision, critique, and peer feedback
Connect their writing to real-life growth

Activities & Flow

- Intro: Why writing matters (and why practice beats talent)
- Personal Author Story: Honest journey—doubt, risk, rewriting, healing (origin story)
- Interactive Freewrite: Fun five-minute prompt challenges
- Swap & Share: Read, swap, and reflect on each other's work
- World-Building Rewrites: Students reinvent a scene with creativity and freedom
- Therapeutic Rewrite: Quiet, guided activity—students safely "rewrite" a difficult experience
- Live Q&A: Students ask anything—about writing, healing, publishing, or the book's characters
